

Law officers to check for illegal vehicle tags

BY TRACI BONNEY

Now is no time to play "Tag" with law enforcement officials.

The county's three law enforcement offices — the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and the Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police Departments — are working together to crack down on people whose vehicles are illegally tagged.

Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said Wednesday the three departments will be setting up roadblocks and checking car tags in each of their jurisdictional areas in upcoming weeks.

"People with illegal tags have a chance within the next two weeks to get legal," Peterson said. "After that, if you're ticketed for an illegal tag, you will be fined, and you'll have to pay an additional $250 penalty when you go to the tax assessor's office to replace your tag."

"When an officer catches someone with an illegal tag, he writes that person a ticket, then we send a copy of the ticket to the tax assessor's office. So, when the person goes to the tax office, he'll get hit with another penalty."

Peterson said officers will be looking for out-of-state tags belonging to people claiming local residence, expired tags and those that have been switched.

"We've had numerous complaints from people who get their tags, then look across the street and see their neighbor's car with a Louisiana tag on it."

He stated that a person has 30 days after moving into Mississippi to buy a county car tag, and 60 days to obtain a Mississippi driver's license.

Last year, the Bay St. Louis Police Department took advantage of the schools by conducting roadblocks in the mornings and afternoons, when parents delivered their children to and picked them up from school. Detective David Parker said the effort was very successful; many people have since obtained Mississippi tags.

Supervisors try new idea to combat beach erosion

BY TRACI BONNEY

The board of supervisors have decided to go beachconing.

At their regular meeting Monday, the supervisors unanimously agreed to allow Beachcones Research, Inc. of New Orleans set up an offshore demonstration of the company's product, the beachcone.

William J. Mouton, one of the beachcone's three inventors and patent holders, explained how the product helps to reclaim sand beaches eroded by wave action and weather.

The beachcone is a truncated concrete cone that is 40 inches in diameter at the base and six inches high, and has an interior diameter of 24 inches. It is an inch thick and has a side slope of 37 degrees.

It works to reclaim sand beaches and prevent their erosion by interrupting the actions of waves and causing the waves to "drop" the trapped sand into or onto the cone.

A pyramidal unit of beachcones is placed at the low tide water's edge, with concrete pieces called waveblocks between the cones. As the water surges and ebbs over the cones, the cones cause the sand to be dropped by the waves.

Photos of a test area in Slidell show that after six months, a small sand beach began to appear where no beach had previously existed.

County joins water study

BY TRACI BONNEY

The board of supervisors voiced support Monday for a comprehensive tri-county water resources study.

Harold Duncan of the Hancock County Soil Conservation Service broached the subject of the study, and found that the supervisors favor Hancock County's inclusion in a study of water resource issues for the three coastal counties. The board passed a modified version of a proposed resolution supporting the study.

The original resolution was written for Harrison County, but revisions requested by the supervisors will make certain the resolution includes Hancock County in its language.

The proposed study would consider needs for protection against floods, wise use of flood plains, navigation facilities, soil erosion and sedimentation control, regional water supply and wastewater management systems, general recreational facilities, watershed protection, nourishment of beach and coastal areas, enhancement and control of water quality, enhancement and conservation of fish and wildlife, and other such measures and issues.

County schools close so teachers may march

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Hancock County schools will close Wednesday, March 11 to enable faculty members to support a planned march by educators in Jackson.

Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois requested the closing at Monday's board meeting.

She said the legislature has before it two bills, each listing changes in policy that could set education in Mississippi back 10 years.

"If either bill passes," she stated, "it will affect the quality of education in this state."

The Education Stabilization Act of 1992 lists changes to present state laws designed to help schools cope with funding cuts made to the Minimum Foundation Program.

This year, $50.4 million was reduced from education's general fund by the state. Next year the cut is expected to be about $30 million.

According to state Sen. Vic Frankiewicz, the Stabilization Act passed in committee yesterday and now goes to the Senate floor for debate.

Included are proposals for:

Bay still negotiating for CSX train station

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre reported Monday the city intends to be ready and waiting when passenger service is resumed along the Gulf Coast this fall.

U.S. Sen. Trent Lott released word last week that Amtrak will begin passenger rail service on the Mississippi Coast three days a week beginning in October.

"We are still working with CSX," Favre stated of the city's efforts to regain possession of the old Bay St. Louis train station located off Third Street and Booker Avenue.

"The preliminary word is that CSX is willing to relocate to another building," the mayor said. "The problem remains, 'In what building?'"

"There is talk of constructing another building on the property where the old train station and CSX are presently located, but at this time nothing is final."

Favre added he is confident that, by October, Bay St. Louis will be ready for Amtrak's arrival.

Commuter service, according to Favre, will be the next step of planned service the Coastal cities are attempting to negotiate with Amtrak.

Favre said he has no idea of the expense the city must yet face in the renovation of the station.

Weaving through streets of the Pass

Pleasant weather encouraged a record crowd to view the Pass Christian Mardi Gras parade Sunday. Estimates placed the number at approximately 40,000. Close to 80 units made up the annual parade, which is sponsored by St. Paul Carnival Association. Reigning royalty were Harry Richard Bishop Jr., King Christian LXII, and Julia Wittman Howard, Queen Christiana. (Photo by T. H. Toups)

Bay mandates utility pole sign removal

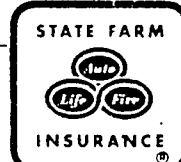

Signs placed on utility poles throughout Bay St. Louis will be coming down beginning March 16. Violators are given this grace period to voluntarily remove the signs before they are removed by city workers and destroyed. Fines of up to $100 per day will be waived during the grace period.

"Odd-job, small business, directional sign placements on utility service poles have reached nuisance proportions in the city. It is time for them to go; there are other avenues for inexpensive advertisement. Most shopping centers offer community bulletin boards, advertising space on benches, and, of course, the local radio, television and print media," said Mayor Edward Favre.

The removal of signs is the first project in a long list of improvements Bay St. Louis has on tap to contribute to the overall goals of the chamber-sponsored litter free campaign.

visors, in agreeing to allow the beachcone demonstration, stipulated that permission from the Bureau of Marine Resources be obtained before the cones are placed.

Bill Mitchell, who is working with the county's sand beach advisory committee on its beach renourishment project, suggested that this be done and told the supervisors he would contact BMR.

Mitchell also spoke to the supervisors about a modification in the Corps of Engineers permit for the county beach renourishment.

He said the Corps originally stipulated that the renourishment work could be done only from September to March because of the possibility of disturbing least tern nesting.

"I told the Corps that as far as I know, there are no least terns using the area to nest."

Mitchell said that after a Corps official viewed the beach and verified the absence of least terns, the Corps agreed to modify the permit to let the work be done year-round, but with daily inspections to confirm that no least tern nesting is disturbed, should any least terns decide to roost in Hancock County.

A second stipulation in the modified permit provides that if a nest is discovered, work in that area will be halted.

Forestry Incentive Program offers cost-sharing option

Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director of the Pearl River-Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office, stated the sign-up period for the Forest Stewardship Incentive Program (SIP) is now through March 13.

Examples of basic forestry practices that can be cost-shared under SIP on qualifying lands in Mississippi include reforestation and afforestation; forest and agroforest improvement; soil and water protection

Cruise ship measure on president's desk

BY TRACI BONNEY

A federal measure that would allow casino gambling on American flagged cruise ships awaits the president's signature after being delayed for a language change.

House Resolution 3282, introduced by Rep. Gene Taylor, was passed by both chambers of Congress and sent to the president for his signature. However, H.R. 3282 — and several other bills, according to Taylor's press secretary Shawn Bullard — was being held while language relating to the now defunct Union of Soviet Socialist Republics is changed to reflect recent alterations in the political geography of Eastern Europe.

"The wording was changed from 'Soviet Union' to 'Russia' or 'Commonwealth of Independent Republics' on several documents so as not to confuse anyone in the future," Bullard said.

"It's understandable that the language needed to be changed.

When history changes, you need to keep up with it."

H.R. 3282 was designed to give the U.S. cruise ship industry some competitiveness with foreign nations' counterparts, Bullard said.

"In the '40s and '50s, the United States was known throughout the world for its luxury liners and cruise vessels. Now, we've legislated ourselves right out of the industry. This measure should give us a way to get back into the industry, and create more jobs in shipbuilding and other fields."

He stressed that the bill is not designed to create gambling ships, but to allow gambling on cruise ships.

"You'll find with the cruise lines that have casino gambling on them, that the gambling is not a large focus but another aspect of the total entertainment package the ship offers."

Taylor explained in a recent American Maritime Officers Service publication article why he submitted H.R. 3282.

"Over 100 cruise ships call on U.S. ports. Less than two percent of them are American-flag ships. The other 98 percent are foreign-flag," he said. "Obviously, there are a number of reasons for this: cheaper foreign labor, cheaper foreign-built ships. These are things we in the United States cannot control or compete against."

"Of the things we can control and which would make the U.S. more competitive in this growth industry, one is to install gambling equipment onboard U.S. passenger ships. The foreign-flag ships have it. That is one of the primary reasons they are able to beat us competitively."

"By federal statute, a U.S. ship cannot have gambling equipment onboard an sail into international waters. So we are, by our own laws, depriving ourselves of millions, perhaps billions of dollars worth of trade."

Friends of Charles B. Murphy Elementary 'Drive for Education' at Gerry Lane Motors

Charles B. Murphy Elementary has the opportunity this week to receive free Apple computers, Magnavox audio-visual equipment or Compton's Encyclopedias from Gerry Lane Motors in Bay St. Louis.

Note: The original date of March 2 through 7 was in error and the correct dates are March 9 through 14. Parents or friends of Charles B. Murphy who test drove March 2-7 will get credit for the school's drive.

"Driving for Education" is a program designed to address the growing need for more computers and related educational tools in elementary and secondary schools, said A.C. Adam, Gerry Lane general manager.

According to Charles B. Murphy Elementary principal Clementine Williams, the school's goal is to receive computers. CBME parents and friends are encouraged to visit Gerry Lane and test drive a vehicle March 9 through 14. When a predetermined number of "proof of drive" certificates are tallied, the school may select equipment from five different award levels.

There is no limit to the amount of free awards a school may receive.

Gerry Lane is one of a number of Chevrolet/Geo dealerships nationwide offering the "Driving for Education" program. The program is open to all public, private and parochial schools in the Gerry Lane service area. (Advertisement)

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Have you taken the time to look at the many trees, plants, flowers and shrubs in bloom in our area?

Signs of spring are bursting loose everywhere, and every block has beautiful colors displayed.

The pear trees, apple trees, azaleas and Japanese magnolias are just a few to mention.

The recent warm, summer-like weather has tricked nature into thinking spring, and we as residents of this area are blessed with beauty.

The shame is that there are some of us who really do not take the time out of our fast pace to enjoy all of the beauty.

The next time you ride about town, leave a little early so you can stop and take a few extra minutes to check some of the beautiful flowers.

The beauty is there, all you need to do is take the time to enjoy it.

FROM THE MISSISSIPPI HOUSE

By Representative J.P. Compretta

Nearly 1,500 bills, resolutions introduced

With legislative redistricting completed, the House of Representatives has shifted its attention to a towering stack of other measures as the 1992 session heads into its third month.

The deadline has expired for introduction of general bills and constitutional amendment. More than 2,500 bills and resolutions had been introduced in the House and Senate prior to the February 24 cutoff, including 1,373 bills and 114 concurrent resolutions in the House.

Legislative action was completed during the past week on redrawing House and Senate districts, among the key issues in the opening weeks of the session. Both reapportionment plans were to be forwarded to Washington over the weekend for review by the U.S. Justice Department as required by the federal Voting Rights Act.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

A Weekly Editorial From Mississippi Economic Council

Get involved

The country is heading into the frenzied cycle of the presidential primaries.

With the New Hampshire primary now history, the attention of the candidates is now focused on 11 southern states and the Super Tuesday primaries on March 10.

At this early point in the primary process, a variety of candidates exist on both sides of the political aisle—requiring the involvement of many citizens to continue after Super Tuesday.

Whether it is through volunteering time, energy, or money—the American political system simply cannot properly function without the input of the people.

That input is most important on election day, and every American who is registered to vote should do so. At the time of the 1988 presidential election, over 1.8 million Mississippians were of voting age, and 1.6 million of them were registered to vote. Yet on election day, only 932,000 people—58 percent of the registered voters—turned out at the polls to mark their ballot.

Ours is a government "of the people." The responsibility for choosing the leaders of America, and the direction of America, rests with each and every one of us. The voice of every man and woman is heard in our government, but only if we make the choice to speak out. And what is the best way to do that?

Get involved and vote at every available opportunity.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Top third of state holds majority of House chairmanships

There's no doubt that under House Speaker Tim Ford's new regime in the Mississippi House, he has shifted the power of committee chairmanships predominantly to members from the northern end of the state, from which he hails.

If you were to color red a map of Mississippi to denote the home county of the chairman of each of the 29 House standing committees, it would be virtually solid red across the upper one-third of the state, with a great sea of white space in East-central and South Mississippi.

In fact, only five of the 29 chairmanships are in the hands of lawmakers who live south of Interstate 20 which crisscrosses the middle of the state.

Even more significant is that the chairmen of all 10 major committees—Appropriations, Ways and Means, Rules, Judiciary A, Education, Highways, Constitution, County Affairs, Public Health-Welfare and Utilities—come from the First and Second Congressional districts, largely comprising Northeast Mississippi and the Delta.

The closest that populous South Mississippi came to a major chairmanship was Universities and Colleges, which went to Rep. Glenn Endris of Biloxi.

The only other second-tier chairmanships South Mississippi got were: Local and Private, to which Rep. J. P. Compretta of Bay St. Louis was reappointed chairman, and Oil and Gas, which Ford gave to young Rep. Curt Hebert of Pascagoula.

Not since the days powerful Speaker Walter Sillers surrounded himself with top lieutenants from his native Delta, has there been a cluster of key legislative committee chairmen from one area as Ford has gathered around him from Northeast Mississippi.

Ford is from Tupelo, which is in Lee County. Adjacent to Lee are Union, Prentiss, Monroe and Chickasaw counties.

Rep. John Pennebaker of New Albany (Union) heads the important Highways (now called Transportation) Committee; Rep. Mike Mills of Aberdeen (Monroe) has the potent chairmanship of Judiciary A; Rep. Billy McCoy of Booneville (Prentiss) is the chairman of Education, traditionally a key post, and Rep. Billy Bowles of Houston (Chickasaw) is chairman of Labor.

And in passing, it's worth mentioning that Ford gave two of his fellow Lee Countyans rather nice assignments—Rep. Steve Holland of Plantersville, chairman of Agriculture, and Rep. Eloise Scott of Tupelo, vice-chairman of Education.

It's rather obvious that Ford bypassed South Mississippi on chairmanships and choice committee assignments because his speakership opponent, Rep. Ed Perry of Oxford, drew most of his support from that part of the state.

Significantly, Perry himself was the only member in the Perry camp to get either a chairmanship or a vice-chairmanship. In the wake of his victory, Ford trampled in the dust some of the most experienced and competent House members who had paved the way for him to be elected speaker four years ago, but opposed him this time.

Among them: Rep. Cecil Simmons of Maben, a 20-year House veteran; Rep. Dick Livingston of Pulaski, also with 20 years experience; Rep. Eric Clark of Taylorsville, 12 years and Rep. Percy Watson of Hattiesburg also 12 years. All four had been chairman of an important committee four years ago. Now, they are not even a vice-chairman.

The contrast in Speaker Ford of 1988 and Speaker Ford of 1992 is rather apparent. When he was brought to power by the progressive movement four years ago, he reached out to some key members who opposed his election, naming seven committee chairmen and 10 vice-chairmen who had not supported him.

Now, the "new" Ford, who speaks of unifying the House, has obviously played the political game of punishing his enemies. Only the seniority rule, one of the reforms put through in the progressive revolt in 1987, spared a few of the veterans a seat on the two key "money" committees—Appropriations and Ways and Means.

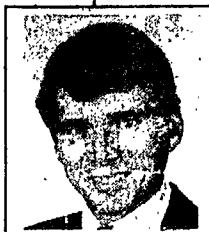

But Ford's geographical maldistribution of committee chairmanships in the present House Committee structure could have grave consequences. Even Buddie Newman sought geographical, if not philosophical, balance in his heyday.

Keesler, vital to South Mississippi's economy

It does not surprise me that the Department of Defense recently awarded Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi, $26 million as a result of recent base closure decisions. Along the same line, military construction appropriations totaled more than $16 million last year, insuring the bases future survivability in the wake of defense cuts.

Within the next year or two, Keesler personnel should begin seeing final construction of a new $3.4 million video training facility, a $6.1 million weather training complex and a $7 million commissary addition and officers' mess.

Moreover, the recent funding provided by the base closure decisions will allow Keesler to expand the USAF Medical Center, the Precision Measurement Equipment Laboratory and the Tenant Support Facility. As Keesler expands and grows while preparing for the next century, students squadrons and technical training groups are insured the best education the Air Force has to offer.

For more than 50 years Keesler has been a magnet for South Mississippi, attracting thousands of students and training personnel. However, Keesler provides more than text book and on-hands technical learning. Keesler provides South Mississippi a strong unwavering workforce. If Keesler were a city, its community would be the fourth largest on the Gulf Coast.

Because Keesler pumps tens of millions of dollars into the Coast's economy, South Mississippians are able to enjoy a higher quality of life, in turn, while experiencing the lowest unemployment rate found in the entire state.

Keesler equals jobs and stability. For instance, jobs are created when contracts are awarded to local industry to build multi-million dollar facilities like the ones mentioned earlier, or when local residents are hired to perform Civil Service duties, or on a much broader scale, when an airman purchases lunch at one of our many outstanding restaurants.

Since 1941, South Mississippians and Keesler have been living in harmony while thriving on each other and you can rest assured we will continue to experience this unique win-win situation.

Even after many of Keesler's personnel retire they continue to give to the community by planting their roots in South Mississippi. It is no small wonder why thousands of Keesler retired remain in the area.

Keesler boasts as having several of the best services and facilities in the entire Air Force. For example, Keesler has the second largest medical center in the Air Force. The Technical Training Medical Center serves a local population of 1400 active-duty military members from Keesler and surrounding military facilities, 20,000 family members, plus 54,000 retired military members and their families in the surrounding area.

A recent accreditation by the Joint Commission of Accreditation of Health Care Organizations rated Keesler Medical Center in the top 10 percent of military and civilian medical center in the United States. The reason for the high accreditation... Keesler personnel are; and continue caring long after retirement.

Finally, as this small city comprised of 3550 acres, 361 buildings, and 112 miles of paved roads continues to grow and expand to accommodate the airman and training personnel of tomorrow's Air Force, South Mississippi will surely benefit.

FROM THE SENATE

By Senator Trent Lott

By land, sea and air

While I certainly had hoped that the President would select Gil Carmichael of Mississippi to be his transportation secretary, the man he did pick, Andrew "Andy" Card, should do a good job.

I quizzed Mr. Card during his nomination hearing on America's transportation needs, and I discussed Mississippi's transportation needs as well. I told him that it is time to take stock of the fact that the transportation system in America needs a lot of work, both on the national level where larger cities are encouraging greater urban transportation, and in the rural areas such as in Mississippi where just getting to a town can be a bumpy and sometimes dangerous ride.

Mississippi needs to diversify its transportation system in four areas.

—Number one, we need additional big jet aircraft serving Mississippi's airports. Right now, only Jackson has such service. We need to redouble our efforts to attract routes back to Gulfport-Biloxi Regional Airport and other major Mississippi airports.

—Number two, we need more Amtrak service in such areas of the state as Laurel and Meridian, and I've long been a proponent of reinstating the old Gulf Wind run along the Mississippi Gulf Coast from New Orleans to Jacksonville.

This is the only link that keeps Amtrak service from encircling the entire lower 48 states. I have worked with Gil and Amtrak to complete this loop, and plans are underway to extend the Los Angeles-New Orleans Sunset Limited service to Jacksonville later this year. Also, the C&G (Columbus & Greenville) line needs to be maintained because it provides an important east-west link for business and industry in the northern part of the state.

—Number three, highway transportation is essential for the state's growth. We need a four-lane bridge over the Mississippi River at Greenville and a bridge across the Pearl River to help connect downtown Jackson to the airport in Rankin County. Also, a new bridge is needed across the Pascagoula River to serve the new Naval Station, Ingalls and traffic on U.S. 90. All of these are priorities for me this year.

Mississippi needs funding to four-lane the rest of U.S. 82 from Starkville to Winona, and we must move forward with plans to four-lane U.S. Highways 45, 72 and 78.

The biggest crime of all is the poor condition of the highways in the Mississippi Delta. For so many years the Delta has not had its share of four-lane roads—to date there are only about 100 miles of four-lanes in the Delta. U.S. Highway 61 is the key link for that western part of the state.

—Number four, we need to rebuild our merchant marine fleet in America. We are on the verge of losing not only our own flag ships, but also our shipbuilding and repair. We need to focus on maritime, from both a national security and a commercial standpoint.

When we look at our transportation needs, we need more air, better rail, improved highway and competitive sea service. I look forward to working with Mississippi's highway commissioners and our new secretary of transportation to get these accomplished.

STREET TALK

Would you support a shorter school year to save money?

"Yes, if it will save money. I don't feel less days at the elementary level will affect the quality of the children's education, but it may at the secondary level."

Annell Acker
Bay St. Louis

"No. We are not getting ahead of the rest of the world in education as it is. For example, the Japanese go to school six days a week and they don't have a three-month summer vacation; neither do the Europeans."

Max Berns
Waveland

"There is no proper future without education. If they need to save money, do what other school systems do and have year-round school. Nine weeks on and three weeks off at a time. Stagger the time. I lived in a school district in Arizona where it worked very well. The kids retained the material and it saved money over a year's operation. My daughter combined her eleventh and twelfth grades and graduated a year early. My two sons stayed the four years but were doing second-year college work in their senior years. There is no such thing as cheaper education. Education should be a No. 1 priority."

Dale Kastelberg
Bay St. Louis

"No. I don't think they go to school enough now. They are going to have to get realistic in the Legislature and if it takes a raise in taxes, then that is what they will have to do. I believe people would back it up if it was dedicated to education."

Charles Carter
Bay St. Louis

"I have no children, but I wouldn't support a shorter school year. Mississippians need more education. If we cut the school year, it won't bring taxes down, but it will bring mentality down. I'm for education at any price."

Ed Parsons

—Increase of the maximum teacher-student ratio from 24 in K-4 to 30, and from 27 in 5-12 to 35;

—Increase of the 1-mile school district transportation entitlement to 2 miles;

—Delay of mandating the gifted program for one year; and —Authorize one year of early retirement.

Prior to committee, the act called for the reduction of the present school year from 180 days to 160 days. The bill now reflects a reduction to 175 days, cutting one week of school.

Frankiewicz added, "The only other change the bill underwent in committee was the addition of an effective date, allowing the bill to become law only if the legislature does not appropriate sufficient funds for the Minimum Foundation Program."

He said a decision on exact funding will not be made until near the end of the session.

Bourgeois told the board, "Teachers wishing to go to Jackson could be fined $250 for missing a day of school. I would not like to see that happen."

She added last week she met with superintendents from along the Coast. At that time, Harrison County and Gulfport School Districts each reported 150 teachers requesting March 11 off from work to attend the demonstration in Jackson.

The board approved the Wednesday closing and said they would decide on a makeup day. Bourgeois suggested one day be added at the end of the school year, extending the last day of school to May 29.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy
McGuire Caire

Fresh vegetables and fruits crowd shopping baskets at our area supermarkets these days, as shoppers take advantage of special savings.

When I choose from amongst the bargains in fresh fish and such, as well as attractively-priced meats and poultry, I'll have little trouble turning out healthful and appetizing meals. Nor will you!

Turkey breasts are especially good buys, as are chicken breasts and breast quarters, along with drumsticks and leg quarters. Beef or bottom round roasts and steaks are also good values, as are lean pork quarter loins (sliced into chops) and lean, fresh pork picnic roasts and whole hams.

And, let's not forget the "Lenten favorites"—fresh catfish, salmon and such, and that tuna! There are good buys in canned shrimp, crab and tuna and salmon, as well as canned fish flakes and that old favorite, codfish cakes. There are a number of good offerings in the frozen seafood departments as well.

Vegetables, especially potatoes and onions, are good buys; broccoli, cauliflower, cabbage and carrots are good choices, as are pole beans. You might build many of your Lenten meals around these, adding lesser amounts of meats or poultry or seafood as accents as is done in many countries around the globe.

By the way, those fresh fruits—the grapes and plums and tangerines and oranges and lemons and apples, add a zest and tang to your meat and poultry and fish dishes, as well as adding colorful accents. Try out various combinations; you'll be pleasantly surprised if you haven't been cooking this way.

I like to cook slices of lemon along with squash slices, for example; and orange slices and sauces add a filip to turkey or chicken, equally so to pork and seafood, just to mention a few instances. And, I like to cook:

CHICKEN IN ORANGE JUICE AND PINEAPPLE
(Or "pollo en jugo de naranja y pina," as it's known in Mexico, where I first tasted this dish some years ago. Not all Mexican food is fiery, and fruits are often used in cooking.)

1/2 cup raisins
1 cup orange juice
1 chicken (3 1/2 lbs.) cut into serving pieces
1/2 cup flour seasoned with 1 tsp. salt and with pepper
3 Tblsp. oil

1/2 cup chopped blanched almonds
1/2 cup crushed canned pineapple, drained
2 Tblsp. sugar
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
1/8 tsp. ground cloves
Soak the raisins in the orange juice for 2 to 3 hours. Dredge the chicken pieces in the flour, then saute in the oil in a skillet until golden brown on all sides.

Transfer to a shallow baking dish, add the remaining ingredients to the orange juice and raisins, and spoon the mixture over the chicken. Bake in a 325-degree oven for 30 minutes, basting frequently. Raise heat to 400 degrees and cook 10 minutes more. (4 servings). I also use this combination with chicken, breasts or drumsticks or pork chops and pork steaks.

Free high fiber recipes offered

National health organizations encourage us year-round to eat and cook healthier by stressing the importance of a high-fiber, low-fat diet. The National Cancer Institute advises that we double our average intake of dietary fiber, currently 11 to 15 grams per day, to 20 to 30 grams (not exceeding 35 grams).

In addition, research is showing that a high-fiber, low-fat diet, which can include wheat bran fiber, may help reduce the risk of certain types of cancer. Kellogg's Kitchens is offering three free brochures containing helpful cooking tips and recipes using high-fiber cereals. The brochures are available throughout the duration of March—National Nutrition Month.

To receive these brochures, dial toll free 1-800-962-1413 between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. CST and request the National Nutrition Month brochures.

Brochures titles include: "Recipes for Health Conscious Families"

Seafood dishes are family favorites

Kids could care less that fish is goofy for them. They're not impressed by its low-fat, high protein qualities. For them, it's how it tastes that counts.

But sometimes getting a child to take that first bite of a new seafood dish can be a challenge. So, for parents who want their kids to like seafood, here is a three-part strategy. Keep it simple. Rely on the familiar. And, involve them in the cooking process.

Most kids prefer their fish prepared very simply. Whether baked, pan-fried or grilled outdoors, mild, firm-textured white fish seems to be a universal favorite.

CRAB MELT PIZZA
1/2 c. chopped onions
2 t. vegetable oil
3/4 lb. crabmeat, crab-flavored Surimi Seafood, flake style, or cooked shrimp
2 T. reduced-calorie mayonnaise
1 t. lemon juice
1 c. shredded Monterey Jack or mild Cheddar Cheese
1 12-inch (1 lb.) Italian Bread shell (i.e. Boboli)

Heat oil in a medium skillet over medium heat. Add onion and saute until soft but not brown, about 3 minutes. Transfer to a bowl and gently stir in crabmeat, mayonnaise, lemon juice and 1/2 cup of cheese.

Spread on bread shell, leaving a 1-inch border around the edge. Sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake at 450 degrees 8 to 10 minutes or until cheese is melted and topping is thoroughly heated. Cut into wedges. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

SEAFOOD FETTUCCINE

3/4 lb. salmon fillets or steaks
OR raw medium-size shrimp
2 T. margarine or butter, divided
1 clove garlic, minced
1 T. plus 1 t. flour
1/2 t. dried thyme or basil
1/8 t. freshly ground pepper
1 1/4 c. low-fat milk
8 oz. dried fettuccine

Grated Parmesan cheese for serving (about 1/4 c.)

Place a large kettle of water on to boil pasta. Remove skin and bones from salmon, including small pin bones, and cut into 3/4-inch chunks. (Or, peeled and deveined shrimp and cut into thirds.) Blot seafood dry.

Melt 1 T. margarine in large non-stick skillet over medium high heat. Add seafood and garlic and saute 4 to 5 minutes or until just cooked through.

Meanwhile, gradually add pasta to boiling water and cook 8 to 11 minutes or until tender. Transfer seafood to a bowl, cover loosely and keep warm. Reduce heat to medium. Add remaining margarine to same skillet and heat until melted.

Stir in flour and take pan off heat. Gradually stir in milk, thyme and pepper until smooth.*

Return to heat and cook and stir until slightly thickened, about 2 minutes; reserve. Drain pasta and place in a large serving bowl. Pour sauce over pasta and toss. Add seafood and toss again. Serve with Parmesan cheese, if desired. Makes about 4 servings.

*Note: One can (2 1/2 oz.) sliced black olives, drained or 1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained or 1/2 c. sliced green onion or 1/3 c. diced green pepper can be added to the sauce after 1 minute.

Rocks begin season on winning note

Special to the Echo
By Dale Decamp

The 1992 Rock-A-Chaw baseball team opened its season Sunday with two wins over O. Perry Walker of New Orleans at St. Stanislaus baseball field. Terrell LaFontaine and Danny Cohen combined for a no-hitter in the first game and Kendall Daniels pitched a two-hitter in the second game. The 10-run rule was enforced, taking the Rocks to an early victory.

Leading hitters for SSC were John Bishop, four hits, 6 RBIs; Brady Price, four hits, 7 RBIs; Adam Breerwood, double and homerun; and John Rutherford, home run and 4 RBIs.

Monday afternoon the Rocks dropped a close game to St. Martin of New Orleans, 5-4. St. Martin was 2A state champion team and 28-0 in 1991.

Pitcher Brady Price started with game and was relieved by Terrell LaFontaine, who was credited with the loss.

The team, led by Coach Carey Ourso, was picked to finish first in their district this year by The Sun Herald.

"It is an honor that we have earned the respect of the area and the district teams so early in the season, but we must keep this recognition in perspective and realize that it is the final standing that counts," Ourso said.

The Rocks are in Division 8, Class 4A and will play against opponents such as d'Iberville, East Central, Hancock, Pearl River, Picayune and St. Martin. "The district should be highly competitive," Ourso added.

The Rocks' baseball team has been practicing hard since last November. "The players have been intense and the coaching staff has worked equally as hard. The team and coaches anxiously await today's season opener."

"The objectives for the baseball team is to play to the best of their abilities throughout the season and if this happens, the season should be successful," said Ourso.

Some opponents the Rocks will be playing this season include John Curtis (4A state champs of Louisiana in 1990 and 1991), Biloxi, Hattiesburg and Pascagoula.

The coaching staff for the 1991-92 season, in addition to Coach Ourso, include Bob Carey, infield coach; Tim Burns, hitting coach; and Andy Elkins, trainer.

The Rock-A-Chaws starting lineup for this season is Mickey Quinlan (senior, center field), Adam Breerwood (senior, first base), John Rutherford (senior, third base), Terrell LaFontaine

SSC coaches and players will be conducting a Mardi Gras and summer baseball camp for area youths. For more information, contact Coach Ourso at St. Stanislaus.

Lady Raiders lay foundation for winning season next year

Special to the Echo
Coast Episcopal High School's Lady Raiders completed their season with an 8-17 record and several unique accomplishments.

According to Coach Kristin Townson, a former player for Appalachian State University (N.C.), this year's schedule was the toughest that either the girls or boys teams at Coast Episcopal have played.

Not only did the Lady Raiders re-enter the Mississippi Private School Association South 1A District, but the remainder of their schedule was filled with teams from 2A and 3A schools. With the quality of their opponents significantly raised, the team had to step up their play accordingly. The girls recorded losses but held their own against teams such as 3A Faith Academy of Mobile and 2A Bowling Green.

For the first time ever the Lady Raiders beat a 3A team, Mobile Christian, with a score of 55-30. The "firsts" didn't end there, as the team also won against Chamberlain-Hunt Academy (41-30), a fellow MPSSA South 1A team. This was the Raiders' first win against a district team. They recorded two for the season.

For the 1992-93 season, Coach Townson said she believes that the "Lady Raiders will be the team to beat in the South 1A District and will also give the larger 2A and 3A teams a few headaches."

The team is still relatively young, consisting of one junior (captain Megan Uram), five sophomores (Gin Johnson, Miriam Salloum, Whitney Eastman, Vanesa Shiyou, Mandy Williams) four freshmen (Marcie Williams, Anna Stanfield, Mariha Herrin, Amy Dedeaux), and two eighth graders (Morey LeFeve, Courtney Taylor).

Starting for the Raiders this season was junior Megan Uram, an All-District player selection as well as team captain.

According to Townson, "Megan's ability to assume various roles on the court was invaluable this year, as she was high scorer in some games, had the most rebounds in others, and the most assists and steals in still others."

Amy Dedeaux, a freshman, contributed tough, no-nonsense defense as she played in the most physically demanding defensive position for the Raiders.

Eighth grader Morey LeFeve, who already has a vertical leap of 20", led the team in steals and blocked shots. At 5'11½", mid-season newcomer, sophomore Vanesa Shiyou, added a new dimension to the Raider offense and will be a dominating force in the center position next season.

Another midseason transfer, Mandy Williams, also a sophomore, assumed the point guard position, contributing points, steals, and ball-handling skills. According to Townson, she "has the potential to be the best guard in Coast's 1A District."

Two other players who made significant contributions this year are Miriam Salloum and Whitney Eastman, both sophomores, who are capable of playing nearly all offensive and defensive positions and came through for the Raiders on numerous occasions.

The Lady Raiders are already thinking ahead to the 1992-93 season and plan to be the "team to beat."

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

It's time to go fishin' y'all. Went fishin' in the Jourdan River this past week and caught some very unusual fish. The colorful fish that I caught gave hardly any fight at all, and it seemed that you could catch them no matter what type of bait you used.

I understand there is no size or creel limit on this new type of fish. As a matter of fact, there were so many of these new fish that people were lining the banks of Jourdan the river, and all around the Diamondhead Yacht Club, with nets and gear of various types.

When I say gear of various types, I mean there was some very unusual stuff being used out there to catch things. One person was in a boat and was using deep sea outriggers with rubber chickens attached to the tip of the outrigger. Another boat full of "apparent fishermen" had a paper cannon mounted on the front of their boat and were trying to shoot the new fish (I guess that is what they were trying to do) with pieces of paper that were colored green, yellow and purple.

I don't know if this method worked, but they seemed to be having a whale of a good time trying to catch something using this method. The only disappointing aspect of this fishin' trip is that the fish were too tough to eat. I heard some people calling them "Mardi Gras" bead fish.

Most of the people I usually get fishin' reports from went to Mardi Gras parades this past week instead of goin' fishin'. So the fishin' reports are few and far between.

The good news is that those folks who decided to go freshwater fishin' were able to catch quite a few fish wherever they could find clean, clear water. This meant the canals and bayous, that did not have a lot of overflow from the Pearl River, were producing huge-mouth bass and perch.

I did notice that the Pearl River is down back into its banks. So "the river" should clear up real soon, if there is no more "monsoon" rain fall in the next few weeks. This should mean that the river fishin' should move into great spring catching.

Fishermen catching only parades along the Jourdan

For those folks who absolutely, positively have to go saltwater fishin', and don't have the boat to go way out, I suggest you try your luck in the freshwater canals and carry a salt shaker to add salt to your catch.

And now, for a word about crabs. There are plenty of crabs to be caught along the seawall, but there are some things that you should remember.

First of all, you cannot keep crabs that measure less than 5 inches from point to point. Don't ruin your family fun by keeping these small crabs and getting the green men with the flashing blue lights upset with you. You cannot keep crabs that measure less than 5 inches point to point.

Next of all, the best time to catch seawall crabs is on a falling tide. You need at least a foot of water. Some youngsters were disappointed by not being able to catch any crabs. They were only crabbin' in two inches of water and really appreciated knowing that more water over their nets would help them catch more crabs.

Last of all, since most people have not been out in the bright sunshine for a few months, particularly the little ones, don't forget the sunscreen.

Since most fishermen have had their boats "out of action" for the winter months, now would be a good time to empty the water out of those gas tanks that have been sitting up over the winter.

This week's wonderful wise words: There are no outboard mechanic shops out on the water.

Throw me something mister, turtle.

King mackerel creel limit lowered

The state Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks voted Monday to lower the recreational creel limit on king mackerel from two to one fish per person in Mississippi waters.

The lower creel limit will take effect April 1. The action, recommended by the Bureau of Marine Resources, provides that the limit will be raised again to two fish per day on July 1.

Federal waters were closed to the taking of recreational king mackerel on January 13 because the annual quota of 3.91 million pounds had been reached.

At the request of charter boat owners and operators, BMR has opted for the last two years to cooperate with federal authorities by reducing the bag limit on king mackerel rather than closing the state season entirely.

Charter boat owners and operators have argued effectively that virtually none of the highly migratory king mackerel are available in Mississippi waters between January and July. However, charter boat operators say, the harvest of other species of fish in Mississippi is excellent during a portion of this time.

Charter boat operators claim that if king mackerel season was closed in Mississippi, potential customers would cancel charter fishing trips, thus reducing the incomes of charter boat owners and crews.

Key Club slates Bay Bridge Run

St. Stanislaus Key Club will sponsor the annual Bay Bridge Run Saturday, March 14 beginning at 9 a.m. The 5K run, with five different age categories and a $5 entrance fee, begins at the South end of the Bay Bridge and ends in front of St. Stanislaus High School. Participants will receive a commemorative T-shirt.

Interested runners may pre-register by calling St. Stanislaus at 467-9057. On the morning of the run registration will begin at 8 a.m. in front of St. Stanislaus. Runners will be shuttled by bus to the starting point.

The Key Club uses the proceeds from the run to support its service and educational projects. Annual events are dances for the students of the South Mississippi Retardation Center, visits to Miramar Nursing Home, and quarterly pizza parties for SSC sixth through eighth graders who have a 4.0 average or raise their grade point a half of a point from the previous quarter's grade.

Bay girls softball officials to meet

Bay St. Louis Little League Girls Softball will hold an open meeting tonight at 7 at the Mississippi Power Company meeting room, Hwy. 90 and Dunbar.

Plans for registration, draft, standing rules, etc. will be finalized.

All managers, coaches and others interested in coaching, umpiring or assisting in any other way are invited to attend the meeting.

For more information, call Mary Perkins at 467-6644 after 5 p.m. or Anne Krankey at 467-7055 during the day.

Volksmarch slated in Bay

Magnolia State Volkssport Club is conducting a 10Km (6.2) volkssport March 7 and 8 in Bay St. Louis.

A volkssport is a leisurely walk through a scenic and/or historic area over a pre-marked route. The event is non-competitive, and each participant travels at his own pace, making it an excellent recreational activity for the entire family.

Anyone who completes the route is eligible to receive an award for participation and credit for event distance. Registration is free.

The start and finish point of this walk is at St. Augustine Seminary (Seminary Drive and Ruella Street). Walkers may start anytime between 8 a.m. and 1 p.m. on either day. All participants must be finished with the walk by 4 p.m.

The route includes seminary grounds, historic residential and commercial districts of Bay St. Louis, the beach and several churches.

"We're excited about having both out-of-town and local walkers for this event. Mardi Gras will be over and everyone will need a way to relax. What better relaxation than walking through your city and rediscovering how beautiful it is," said Mike Cuevas, Main Street project manager.

Mayor Edward Favre said,

"Bay St. Louis residents will enjoy these visitors. I know they will show off our wonderful hospitality."

Tree planting

The Gamma Sigma 4-H Club and Girl Scout Troop 27 recently assisted in the landscaping of the Hancock County Walking Track by planting more than 50 trees in honor of Arbor Day. Clockwise, from top left (identifications are from left to right): Alice Holmes of Bay St. Louis, leader of both the troop and club, Girl Scout neighborhood chairman Gayle Egan of Pearl River, Kristen Tusa of Waveland and Valerie Knight of Bay St. Louis plant a red maple on behalf of the Girl Scouts. Randy Smith watches as Lauren Tusa of Waveland plants a pine seedling. Suzie Robinson, Sara Mason and Becca Farrell of Waveland, Unita Twigg and Chrissy Richards of Bay St. Louis, Kristen Tusa, Valerie Knight and Forestry Commission secretary Karen Bermond listen as Smith demonstrates how to mulch. The mulch used was made from recycled Christmas trees. The pine saplings were given by Georgia-Pacific; the other trees were donated by the Forestry Commission and the Soil Conservation Service. Coast Episcopal announces $300,000 grants

Special to the Echo
Coast Episcopal Schools announced the receipt of two grants totaling $300,000. The Dan and Lucille Mortimer Family Foundation has provided $125,000 to be used for student scholarships and financial assistance.

Susan and John Dane III have provided $175,000 to be utilized at the school's discretion, most of which will be used to restructure finances.

Coast Episcopal, founded in 1950 by the Reverend Charles R. Johnson, operates a pre-school, kindergarten and elementary school in Bay St. Louis and a middle school and high school in Pass Christian.

Reilly Stonecipher, chairman of the board of trustees, in accepting the grants on behalf of Coast Episcopal, said the two generous grants, in combination with other recent foundation gifts, constitute a watershed event in the history of Coast Episcopal.

"Since our modest beginnings 42 years ago, when only one grade—kindergarten—was offered, to our ambitious growth to two campuses with grades pre-school through 12th, Coast Episcopal has always worked to provide a superior college preparatory education.

"The Dane grant, in conjunction with other recent gifts, will free us from debts which have hampered our development for the last 20 years and allow us to move quickly to reach our full potential.

"The Mortimer grant, to be used for student scholarships and financial assistance, will enable deserving students to attend Coast Episcopal, whatever their family situation.

"On the firm foundation provided by these and other recent gifts, we plan, during the next several years, to build an endowment that will enable us to furnish an even more outstanding educational program. "At the same time, we shall strengthen our commitment to working with other educational institutions in the area, public and private, for the benefit of all our students."

Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer, who are residents of Pass Christian, have been supporters of Coast Episcopal for many years. Dan Mortimer, a past chairman of the board of trustees, is president of Gulf Coast Fabrication.

The Mortimers are the parents of four children, Joseph, Christine—a teacher at Coast Episcopal Elementary, Michele, and Marc—a student at Coast Episcopal High School, and the grandparents of three, including Joseph Mortimer Jr., a student at Coast Episcopal Elementary.

Speaking on behalf of the Mortimer Family Foundation, Dan Mortimer said, "The future of our area depends on the continued growth and improvement of its educational opportunities.

"We feel strongly that by supporting education, we as individuals, as parents, and as members of the business community are helping assure a thriving and prosperous Mississippi Gulf Coast for future generations."

Mr. and Mrs. Dane, who also reside in Pass Christian, have five children, John, Sally, Anne, Schaeffer and Margot, all of whom are students at Coast Episcopal Schools.

John Dane, who is president of the Trinity Marine Group in Gulfport, notes, "It is imperative that everyone become involved in this vital and challenging task of providing educational excellence in a Christian atmosphere for all our children."

LIVE THE LEGEND!

1895:

On April 24th, American shipmaster Captain Joshua Slocum embarked from the port of Boston, Massachusetts in his 36' sloop the Spray, a converted oyster boat. On June 27th, 1898, he dropped anchor at Newport, Rhode Island to become the first man to single-handedly circumnavigate the world. Captain Slocum and the Spray were lost in a gale off Martha's Vineyard on November 14, 1909.

In Bay St. Louis, everybody is familiar with the dog ordinance which was framed and approved by the present administration. It was thought the ordinance would rid the city of its curs running all over the streets.

There still is a large number of dogs running wild without licenses. The Echo and the community wants to know whose job it is to enforce the ordinance.

The city must do one or the other - see that the ordinance is enforced or money refunded those whom were made to pay.

The Sea Coast Echo is there.
